Don,

I am so happy that yesterday's bike race was a hit! You guys there in Menasha know how to treat organizations/people the right way. You made this process so easy and everyone was so accommodating. I couldn't have been more please with how everything worked out. Thank you so much!

I am already thinking of next year's race and what we can do to make it bigger and better. This year was about baby steps and just getting the rubber on the road. I am glad to have been introduced to James Taylor who has some great ideas about what we can do to make this next year's race even better. I hope that everyone who raced and watched as spectators felt the same way I did after the race. It truly was a great day and we owe a lot to all of you fine hard working Menasha people!

Let's stay in touch and make sure that your fine city is open to all for business, fun and a great quality of life.

Thanks,

Derek Hughes
