Green Fire Appleton Film Premiere

UW-Fox Valley James W. Perry Hall
Menasha, WI

Come to the Fox Valley premiere of Green Fire!

Green Fire makes its Fox Valley premiere at the LEED-certified James W. Perry Hall at the UW-Fox Valley Communication Arts Center in Menasha. This will be a truly special event with a program including an introduction by members of the film team, followed by a catered reception after the film.

A joint production of the Aldo Leopold Foundation, the US Forest Service, and the Center for Humans and Nature, Green Fire explores the life and legacy of famed conservationist Aldo Leopold, and the many ways his land ethic idea is living on in the work of people and organizations all over the country today. The film shares highlights from Leopold's life and extraordinary career, explaining how he shaped conservation and the modern environmental movement.

The film also illustrates Leopold's continuing influence, exploring current projects that connect people and land at the local level. Meet urban children in Chicago learning about local foods and ecological restoration. Meet ranchers in Arizona and New Mexico who maintain healthy landscapes by working on their own properties, and with their neighbors, in cooperative community conservation efforts. Meet wildlife biologists who are bringing threatened and endangered species, from cranes to Mexican wolves, back to the landscapes where they once thrived. Viewers will learn how Leopold's vision of a community that cares about both people and land ties all of these modern conservation stories together, and offers inspiration and insight for the future.

Now showing in limited engagements in communities across the country.

Visit our website www.GreenFireMovie.com to learn more about Aldo Leopold's life and legacy, the people and places in the film, and how you can get a copy of Green Fire to show in your community!

Note: Please arrive at least 15 minutes before the show time if picking up tickets via will-call.
